Schedule 2 - Application of Policy

(13) There are four components of the recruitment and selection process:

- a. Preparing to recruit - what to plan and consider when recruiting.
- b. Sourcing and advertising - identifying and attracting candidates.
- c. Assessment and selection - reviewing, assessing and selecting candidates.
- d. Appointment process - seeking approval to make an offer and closing the recruitment and selection activity.

Preparing to Recruit

(14) Internally advertised vacancies provide career development and progression opportunities for staff. To move directly to external advertisement, the hiring manager should consider whether the skills and experience to meet the selection criteria for the position are available internally to allow for a competitive/merit-based recruitment process. Where no current staff member has the skills and experience, the position will be advertised internally and externally.

(15) The hiring manager reviews and finalizes the position description (refer to the Position Classification for Professional Staff Policy), determines the appropriate composition of the selection panel (refer to guidance in Schedule 1) and submits a request to fill form for approval by the appropriate delegates to begin the recruitment process.

Sourcing and Advertising

(16) All positions are to be advertised either internally (minimum of 5 working days/7 days), externally or to a select internal cohort, except fixed-term positions of up to two (2) years in duration. A merit-based process is required to ensure that a candidates' skills and experience are assessed against the requirements/ selection criteria of the position.

(17) The following circumstances could warrant a request for approval by the relevant delegate to exempt the advertising of a continuing and/or fixed-term position of greater than two (2) years duration. In all cases, an assessment is required to ensure that the candidates' skills and experience are assessed against the requirements/selection criteria of the position:

- a. Conversion from fixed-term to continuing employment consistent with the ACU Staff Enterprise Agreement 2022-2025.
- b. Conversion from sessional to non-sessional academic employment in a teaching focused position consistent with the ACU Staff Enterprise Agreement 2022-2025.
- c. Conversion from casual to continuing consistent with the ACU Staff Enterprise Agreement 2022-2025 and Fair Work Act 2009 \(Cth\).
- d. In instances where specialist skills, knowledge or expertise are limited or in short supply for areas of strategic or reputational importance (meaning a recruitment process is unlikely to yield suitable applicants and/or an appointment to the position is time critical to the delivery of critical organisational outcomes).
- e. To minimise the impact of change management effects on staff and enable redeployment of impacted staff.
- f. Where a competitive recruitment process has taken place within the last six (6) months for a comparable role at the same classification level and additional applicant(s) have been identified as being appointable.
- g. Expressions of Interest (EOI's) as an outcome of a change process may be offered to a select internal cohort in accordance with the placement principles as set out in the final change plan.
- h. Expression of Interest (EOI's) processes may also occur where the university is seeking interest for academic and professional casual or sessional appointments, or to develop a suitable candidate pool for consideration for future available opportunities.

(18) Use of External Recruitment Agencies: In some circumstances, due to the specialised nature and skills of a position, the use of an external recruitment agency may be required. ACU has a panel of preferred recruitment agencies who should be utilised in this instance. Following consultation with the Talent Management team regarding the most effective sourcing strategy, approval to engage an external recruitment agency may be sought. The relevant approval is outlined in the Delegations of Authority Policy and Register. Costs associated with engaging a recruitment agency are to be borne by the organisational area utilising the service. Hiring managers are not authorised to accept commercial terms with agencies not part of ACU's preferred supplier panel.

Assessment and Selection

(19) Selection panels will vary in size and composition depending on the position and level being recruited and must reflect appropriate gender and cultural diversity. Selection panels assessing candidates for Aboriginal, and Torres Strait Islander 'Identified' or 'Targeted' positions must include at least one Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander panel member.

(20) Where a selection panel is convened, all candidate applications are assessed against the key selection criteria stated in the position description. The selection panel is required to accurately document the assessment of all candidates at the shortlisting and interview stages, to demonstrate that a transparent and merit based process has occurred for the appointment of all staff.

(21) All staff undertaking the role of Chair of a selection panel, must complete the Role of Chair training prior to commencing the recruitment process. To enrol, follow this link: Course: Role of Chair - Online \(acu.edu.au\).

Appointment

(22) Prior to making a recommendation of a preferred candidate, the Chair or hiring manager should undertake at least two referee checks to support the recommendation. In the case of internal applicants, consideration of the candidates' ability to demonstrate prior competency and performance may constitute the waiving of reference checking.

(23) There are no circumstances that support a candidate (staff member) commencing work at the university without a formal accepted contract of employment and submitted evidence of:

- a. Qualifications (Qualifications Verifications Policy),
- b. Identification and working rights documentation (Recruitment of Overseas Staff Procedure),
