

Student Prevention and Response to Gender-Based Violence Procedure

Section 1 - Governing Policy

(1) This Procedure is governed by the Prevention and Response to Gender-Based Violence Policy. This Procedure and the Policy should be read together.

Section 2 - Procedure Statement

(2) This Procedure outlines initiatives by the University which are aimed at preventing gender-based violence.

(3) This Procedure also outlines:

- a. how students can make a disclosure or formal report that they have experienced or otherwise become aware of gender-based violence; and
- b. how the University will respond in a trauma-informed and people-centred manner to any disclosures or formal reports regarding gender-based violence by or about University Members in connection with their status as a student of the University.

Section 3 - Disclosure and Formal Reports

(4) If a student (the Discloser) wishes to inform a member of the University community that they have experienced gender-based violence, they can do so by making a disclosure or a formal report:

- a. a disclosure is where a student tells another student, or a staff member, that they have experienced gender-based violence. A student making a disclosure may simply wish to:
 - i. tell someone about the experience; or
 - ii. seek information about resources, academic adjustments, support services or reporting options.
- b. a formal report is where a student makes a disclosure of gender-based violence with an intention that some form of action will be taken beyond the offer and provision of support services, including (without limitation) the commencement of an investigation or a disciplinary process in appropriate circumstances.

(5) The Discloser can:

- a. make a disclosure only;
- b. make a formal report only; or
- c. make a disclosure first and then a formal report later.

(6) A disclosure or formal report can be made at any time. There is no time limit. However, the University encourages disclosures or reports to be made in a timely way to ensure that any delay does not impact upon the University's ability to address the situation.

(7) Subject to (8), the Discloser has autonomy and agency to decide:

- a. whether or not they wish to report the matter externally, e.g. to the police;
- b. how much information they wish to provide;
- c. what next steps, if any, will be taken; and
- d. whether they wish to discontinue a disclosure or formal report they have made. This will not result in negative consequences for the student, and a member of the Safeguarding and Student Safety team will work with the student to address any concerns they may have.

(8) In limited circumstances, the University may take action without the consent of the Discloser, or continue action despite the Discloser wishing to discontinue – for example, if:

- a. there appears to be an immediate risk to the health or safety of the student making the disclosure or formal report, or any other person;
- b. the conduct disclosed is of a nature that the law requires the University to report the information, e.g. where the disclosed gender-based violence has happened to someone under 18 years old; or
- c. a particular individual becomes the subject of disclosures or formal reports by more than one person, and the University is concerned there may be a risk to the health or safety of any person;

(9) If the University decides to take action under (8), the action taken and the reasons for it will be explained to the Discloser.

(10) If a disclosure or formal report is made by a student under 18 years old, it will be managed and responded to in accordance with the Safeguarding Children, Young People and Adults at Risk Policy and Safeguarding Children, Young People and Adults at Risk Procedure.

3.1 How to Make a Disclosure or Formal Report

(11) A student can make a disclosure or formal report:

- a. online by completing the report form on the University Safeguarding and Incident Reporting site ;
- b. by email to respectandsafety@acu.edu.au;
- c. by telephone – by calling Safeguarding and Student Safety on 0476 852 735 ; or

 - i. a Safeguarding and Student Safety staff member, whose role focusses on preventing and responding to gender-based violence; or
 - ii. a member of the Safety Support Network, a network of academic and professional staff on each campus, who have received specialised training to help support students who have experienced gender-based violence.

(12) The ACU National Security Centre can also be contacted on 1300 729 452 should a student require immediate assistance with respect to a matter.

(13) Additional support services available to students are set out in Appendices A and B.

(14) A University Member can complete the online report form on a student's behalf – for example, where a University Member is supporting a student through a disclosure or formal report.

(15) If a University Member witnesses or becomes aware of an incident of gender-based violence involving a student:

- a. Where reasonably practicable, the University Member should seek the student's consent before making a disclosure or formal report.

- b. If consent is not obtained, the University Member may submit the disclosure or formal report either:
 - i. in a de-identified manner (without naming the student), or
 - ii. with the student's name included, if necessary for the report.

3.2 Anonymous Disclosure or Formal Report

(16) A student can make an anonymous disclosure or formal report by completing the online report form without identifying themselves. However, where a student does not provide their name and contact details:

- a. it will not be possible for the University to contact the student to offer information and support; and
- b. the ability of the University to conduct an investigation or take other actions in response to the disclosure or formal report may be impacted.

(17) Regardless of any other actions taken, information from anonymous disclosures or formal reports will be incorporated into de-identified reporting. This data will be used to identify patterns and inform strategies aimed at continuously improving the University's prevention and response measures for staff in relation to gender-based violence.

(18) A student can make an anonymous disclosure or formal report first and then identify themselves at a later date. There is no time limit on this. However, a delay in a student identifying themselves may impact upon the University's ability to respond or take further action.

3.2 Support for Staff and Students who are Responding to a Disclosure or Formal Report

(19) The University provides instruction so that staff and students know how to respond to a disclosure or formal report:

- a. through student workshops, staff training sessions, campaigns and activations delivered by Safeguarding and Student Safety staff and others; and

(20) Where appropriate, University Members can support a Discloser by:

- b. demonstrating kindness and empathy; and
- c. being patient and allowing the student to provide as much or as little information as they wish.

(21) Where a student discloses or makes a formal report that they have experienced gender-based violence, the University's priority is to ensure the safety of the student. For someone in immediate danger or requiring immediate medical attention, contact:

- a. Emergency Services on 000; and
- b. immediately afterwards contact the National Security Centre on 1300 729 452 or by using the Safezone App.

(22) Any staff member who receives a disclosure must:

- a. inform the Discloser that they can access support from the Safeguarding and Student Safety team, which provides specialist safety and support for students who have experienced gender-based violence;
- b. notify the Safeguarding and Student Safety team of the disclosure to support the University's whole-of-organisation prevention and support strategies. Staff must inform the discloser of their obligation to notify the Safeguarding and Student Safety team and seek consent on what information can be shared, including anonymity preferences; and

- c. if relevant, may inform the Discloser that they can also seek support from the internal and external support services listed at Appendix A.

(23) The University acknowledges that supporting someone who discloses gender-based violence can be difficult experience. There is support available to assist you, ensuring that both students and those supporting them feel cared for and empowered throughout the process. The following support options are available for staff and students who are supporting a student through a disclosure or formal report:

- a. implementing any necessary interim measures to ensure the safety of the Discloser;

Section 5 - Investigation of Gender-based Violence

5.1 Formal Reports About Non-University Related Conduct or Non-University Members

(25) If a Discloser makes a formal report about an incident which is not university related conduct or relates to the

(30) The University respects the Discloser's right to decide how much information to include in a formal report. However, if insufficient information is provided, the ability of the University to conduct an investigation or take other actions in response to the disclosure or formal report may be impacted. For example, the University may have limited ability conduct an investigation if the Discloser's identity is not provided, or if the formal report alleges gender-based violence by another student but does not identify that student.

(31) In such cases, the information provided will still be included in de-identified reports to help identify patterns and inform strategies for continually improving the University's prevention and response services for staff in relation to gender-based violence.

5.4 Preliminary Assessment

(32) Where a Discloser makes a formal report and requests to proceed to an external investigation of their matter, University will carry out a preliminary assessment of the formal report to determine whether the matter should proceed to external investigation. The preliminary assessment will take into account:

- a. the formal report and any supporting documentation or information which has been submitted; and
- b. whether there is an apparent incident of alleged gender-based violence by a student; and
- c. whether sufficient information has been provided to enable an external investigation to take place.

(33) Following preliminary assessment, the Director, Student Experience and Enhancement or delegate, in their discretion and on a case-by-case basis, will decide whether a matter is referred for external investigation.

(34) If the University decides not to refer the matter for external investigation, the University will:

- a. notify the Discloser and advise why this decision was made (if the Discloser's identity is known);
- b. continue to offer support to the Discloser as relevant.

(35) The expected timeframe for external investigations and any resulting disciplinary process is no more than 45 working days. The University will only permit extensions of time where required in a particular context.

(40) Where a matter is to be referred for external investigation, the Director, Student Experience and Enhancement or delegate will appoint and instruct an appropriately qualified and experienced external investigator.

(41) Any investigation will be conducted in a procedurally fair and transparent manner, this includes:

- a. providing the Respondent with enough information about the alleged conduct to understand the allegation/s;
- b. giving the Respondent an opportunity to respond to the allegations during the investigation and any subsequent disciplinary process; and
- c. conducting the investigation in a timely manner.

(42) The Respondent will be given the opportunity to participate in the investigation process. However, if they fail to engage (either within the required timeframe or at all) the investigation may proceed, and findings may be made based on the information available.

(43) During the investigation process:

- a. the Discloser will not be required to meet or directly engage with the Respondent unless the Discloser requests it; and

If this occurs, the Director, Student Experience and Enhancement or external investigator will send a notice to the Respondent to provide them with relevant details, including details of any new alleged gender-based violence allegation, and will provide the Respondent with a further opportunity to respond, in writing or by interview (or both).

(47) While investigating a matter, the external investigator may take into account any information they consider relevant. At the end of their investigation, the external investigator will provide the University with a report of their investigation which will include findings of fact and may also include recommendations about whether the Respondent has engaged in:

- a. gender-based violence;
- b. any other form of misconduct;
- c. conduct in breach of the University's policies, procedures, guidelines or codes.

(48) An external investigator's report will not include any findings about whether the Respondent's conduct may amount to criminal conduct.

(49) Subject to the wishes of the Discloser, the University will inform the Discloser in writing of the outcome of the investigation (including whether a disciplinary process will be commenced) on the same day as the Respondent.

5.7 Student Discipline Process

(50) Following receipt of an external investigator's report, the University will consider the report and determine whether to commence student discipline proceedings.

(55) Where a student has made a formal report involving a gender-based violence allegation against a student to the University and the police, the University, in its discretion, may decide to defer or temporarily suspend its internal process while the police investigation or legal proceeding takes place. If it is decided to proceed with a concurrent process, the University will proceed with care so as not to prejudice the criminal proceeding / process.

(56) Deferral or suspension of a University investigation does not prevent the University from taking interim measures in accordance with Section 8.

(57) If any court or tribunal makes a finding that a student has engaged in gender-based violence against any person, the University may rely on this finding as evidence in any subsequent misconduct investigation undertaken by the University in accordance with its misconduct procedures.

(58) Where the University receives a formal report which includes a gender-based violence allegation against a student or where the University becomes aware that a report has been made to the police which includes a gender-based violence allegation against a student, the University may put in place interim measures to protect the safety and wellbeing of any member of the University community. Interim measures are not a penalty and do not pre-empt the outcome of an external investigation or a police investigation.

(65) The National Manager, Safeguarding and Student Safety is responsible for holding records in relation to disclosures, formal reports and investigations of gender-based violence allegations against students.

Actions may include relocating the Respondent to alternative accommodation or arranging urgent support services for the Discloser and Respondent.

(82) The processes in this Procedure will apply in relation to any disclosure or formal report relating to University-owned, managed, or operated accommodation.

(83) For student accommodation which is not owned, managed and/or operated by the University (that is, an affiliated student accommodation provider) the University will ensure those providers have appropriate processes for preventing and responding to gender-based violence. Where a disclosure or formal report relates to an affiliated provider, the University will assist the Discloser in accessing the provider's process and continue to provide support to both the Discloser and Respondent throughout.

(84) All student accommodation providers (including affiliated student accommodation providers) must provide de-identified data on disclosures and formal reports. This data will inform reports to the Senior Executive, governance committees, and regulatory bodies, and will be used to identify trends and improve the University's prevention and response strategies.
